Upon application of the importer, the import clearance can be brought forward in time. This shall be without prejudice to Section 42 subsection 1 and 3.

In derogation of subsection 2 number 1, documents which are not absolutely required for the placing of goods in the declared customs procedure need only, in accordance with Article 167(1) of Regulation (EU) No 952/2013, to be kept available with the supplementary customs declaration. In order to safeguard the interests of import legislation, the customs offices can require that the documents to be kept available pursuant to sentence 1 are presented.

Section 33 Procedure for import clearance

(1) The customs office shall examine the admissibility of the import. It shall refuse to clear the import if
