- 2.3 The elements targeted in strategic documents i.e. National Development Plan/Cooperation agreement/Association Agreement/Sector reform strategy and related Action Plans

This action will contribute to the achievement of the trade related objectives, in particular free and undistorted competition, as set out in Chapter 10, Title IV of the AA. It will also support the completion of the Ukraine-2020 Strategy with regards to the business and regulatory climate improvement and will disclose the future priorities for the national economic competition policy strengthening as part of post-2020 national economic reform strategies.

3. Description

- 3.1 Background and justification:

The EU has been actively supporting the enhancement of the Ukrainian competition system for the last decade. This support intensified with the signature of the AA/DCFTA. Chapter 10, Title IV of the AA specifies competition-related cooperation principles and recognises the AMCU as the national competition authority of Ukraine responsible for enforcement of the competition law in a transparent, timely and non-discriminatory manner, whilst respecting the principles of procedural fairness and the right of defence.

In recent years Ukraine has made progress in approximating its national competition law to that of the EU as mandated by the AA. However, more legal approximation work needs to be done. And more importantly the enforcement and procedural practices at AMCU need to be significantly overhauled, to follow the EU NCA standards. The EU MS administration(s) will help achieve these goals, and will also assist AMCU to establish a strong public outreach and advocacy frameworks to more strongly position itself nationally and internationally.

The AMCU performs its activities in accordance with the Constitution of Ukraine, the LAMCU, the LPEC, the LPUC, and other laws and legal acts adopted in accordance with these laws.

The LAMCU defines the AMCU as a public authority with special legal status: it is a council, consisting of the Chair and eight State Commissioners. The AMCU Chairperson is appointed and dismissed by the President of Ukraine after approval by the Parliament (Verkhovna Rada of Ukraine) for a term of seven years. The AMCU Commissioners (including a First Deputy and a Deputy-Chair) are also appointed by the President of Ukraine for a seven years term upon nomination by the Prime Minister based on the AMCU Chair's proposals. The AMCU is supervised by the President of Ukraine and reports to the Verkhovna Rada (the Parliament) in the form of annual reporting on the AMCU activities. The AMCU has special powers in competition law enforcement and in the development of the national competition policy. These competences are specified in Article 7 of LAMCU as activities focused on: i) control over compliance of undertakings and public administration bodies with the competition laws of Ukraine; ii) prior control of concerted actions (restrictive agreements) by undertakings; iii) merger control; iv) development and implementation of the national competition policy; v) competition advocacy and methodological support in application of competition law. The AMCU also has other important functions, prescribed in more detail in special legislative acts, in particular as public procurement appeal body, and the national state aid monitoring and control authority.

The LPEC contains a standard set of rules contained in most antitrust acts (i.e. prohibition of concerted practices and anticompetitive agreements between undertakings; prohibition of the abuse of a dominant position in the market and merger control). It also contains provisions establishing control over anti-competitive decisions by public authorities, by local self-government and public administrations. LPEC was amended in 2015 to simplify the procedure to notify mergers, calculation of turnover with regards to merger control as required in Council Regulation (EC) 139/2004); procedures for pre-notification consultations; simplified procedure for prior approval of some concentrations of undertakings as per Commission Notice 2013/C 336/04; revision of deadlines for AMCU's final decisions on notified mergers.

The LPEC is primarily aimed at establishing a fair and pro-competitive environment for doing business in Ukraine and protecting consumer welfare. Another related law – LPUC – is designed to establish administrative safeguards against the illegal use of trademarks, misleading advertising and packaging, unfair hindrance of business through unlawful and unfair business practices. The AA does not require dedicated approximation but requires that competition legislation needs to be built on solid principles. The AMCU is however committed to take EU competition law as a reference.

In early 2019, a comprehensive gap analysis of the Ukrainian competition laws and practices was carried out, in order to identify principal non-conformities between the Ukrainian laws and EU acquis communautaire. In particular, the gap analysis revealed significant differences in approaches of the Ukrainian laws to concerted actions and dominance which have deeply influenced jurisprudence which has developed over years in a direction different from the EU case law. The results of the gap analysis will serve as a useful guidance in further amendments of the Ukrainian competition laws and secondary legislation with the purpose of bringing them in line with the EU acquis.

At the same time, competition policy cannot be successful only through the alignment of the national legislation with international standards. The enforcement priorities and procedures must be robust and transparent in order to generate trust and understanding with the private sector, improve quality of decisions and, more generally, foster a culture of competition across all levels of Ukrainian society. To this regard, the AMCU staff requires further qualification raising, which may be achieved by attending competition-related international events.

In Ukraine, enforcement of the competition laws has been hindered by overcomplicated judicial procedures (which prescribe a de facto two circles of 3 level court proceedings before initiation of formal execution of the AMCU decisions becomes possible), lack of effective safeguards against avoidance of compliance with the AMCU decisions (e.g., through reorganization or getting rid of assets by the respondent undertakings), ambiguous laws and practices (jurisprudence) on the concept of a group of companies as a single economic entity; vagueness of provisions on the standard of proof and reliability of evidence. Additionally, in view of the lack of rules of prioritization, AMCU is overloaded with small and insignificant cases distracting its resources from more serious competition infringements. All these issues are to be effectively addressed by the AMCU through implementation of a number of measures, ranging from revising internal practices and interpretation to amending secondary legislation and laws.

With regards to enforcement practices, the role of economic analysis increased within the last decades. Therefore, it is important to share best practices and attend international events for competition economists in order to get an up-to-date information about economic methods used in recent cases as well as about efficient support of enforcement by economic evidences.

Effective public outreach and advocacy are essential to promote competition policy within the spectrum of the country's economic strategies. It helps the NCA to acquire credibility as an effective and impartial advocate for competition, and establish a strong reputation among the public and private sectors; policymakers, businesses, and consumers – all of whom need to understand how competition benefits an economy, and have confidence in the competition agency as an advocate for sound competition policy.

In Ukraine, businesses and the general public largely have a wrong understanding of the competition legislation and role of the NCA, often blaming the AMCU for situations beyond their mandate and scope of influence. To change these perceptions, a robust communication and public outreach strategy needs to be developed and implemented in order to facilitate closer and better relations with media, business and professional communities.

With regards to public outreach and competition advocacy, the AMCU has recently united its international relations and communications units into one Section in order to establish the ground for further improvements in its public relations and competition advocacy efforts with the main internal and foreign stakeholders, Ukrainian society. In order to do that, the AMCU requires experience of European Competition Authorities in order to prepare its methodology for drafting and implementation of communications strategy. Moreover, AMCU communications and international relations units require further qualification-raising in this regard.

3.2 Ongoing reforms:

Ukraine continues to pursue the path of economic transition towards a fully-functioning market economy based on democratic values and its European aspirations. A set of structural reforms is still underway to liberalise the national economy. While some of the reforms have brought visible and tangible results, for example in deregulation of entrepreneurial activity, protection of property rights and prevention of pressure on business from the part of the controlling bodies, other areas of economic activity still need significant reform action. In particular, ensuring competitive neutrality between public and private companies, a major restructuring of state owned enterprises and large-scale privatisations; public private partnerships and concessions are needed to foster competition.

Continued economic reforms in Ukraine are in the focus of the support priorities outlined in the Single Support Framework for EU support to Ukraine with ENI programming until 2020. EU action aims at strengthening the economic structures and institutions to support a functioning and sustainable market economy in Ukraine, including through strengthened competition discipline.

3.3 Linked activities:

A summary of the previous and ongoing donor assistance in support of AMCU is provided below:

Implemented by: CMS law firm (UA)

Progress/results: Comments and recommendations on the Law of Ukraine “On protection of economic competition”.

3.4 List of applicable Union acquis/standards/norms:

Ukraine undertook to ensure effective law approximation and enforcement within three fundamental components of the competition (antitrust) policy:

- prevention and prohibition of anti-competitive agreements and/or decisions by associations of undertakings and concerted practices that have as an object or effect of impeding, restricting, distorting or substantially lessening competition;
- prevention and prohibition of the abuse by one or more undertaking(s) of the dominant position in the market; and
- control of concentrations of undertakings that may result in monopolisation or substantial restriction of competition.

The Ukrainian national laws, regulations and law enforcement practices of the AMCU will be further approximated with EU competition law.

3.5 Components and results per component

Component 1. Further alignment of the Ukrainian competition law with the EU competition laws in the field of antitrust and merger control.

Further legal alignment could stem from the gap analysis of the EU and Ukraine competition laws, done in March 2019 and covering substantive and procedural rules on antitrust and merger control (see Annex 3), which could be transposed into an action plan, defining the prioritised sequence of actions to address the remaining inconsistencies and achieve a more coherent legislative framework with the EU acquis. Depending on Parliamentary progress in upgrading the competition framework by project start, a re-assessment of the remaining gaps may be needed to specify which areas of the gap analysis the project would focus on.

Mandatory result 1 (Component 1): Action plan with the prioritised sequence of actions to address the remaining inconsistencies in the substantive and procedural rules;

Mandatory result 2 (Component 1): Proposals of legal acts (primary and secondary) addressing principal non-conformities of current Ukrainian competition legislation and promoting improvement of the economic competition protection regime in Ukraine.

Component 2. AMCU procedural and enforcement practice.

The support actions, preferably to be delivered as part of case teams throughout the whole lifetime of cases, would focus on AMCU's internal rules and procedures for handling cases, ensuring quality of the statement of objections and decision; using the best investigation techniques and contributing to overall organisational improvements and capacity-strengthening of AMCU.

Mandatory result 3 (Component 2): Improved guidelines, internal rules and procedures on handling cases, carrying out investigations, holding AMCU sessions and hearings, and other procedural actions.

Mandatory result 4 (Component 2): Enhanced AMCU capacity for enforcement in individual cases by ensuring high standards (legal and economic) of decisions.

Component 3. AMCU public outreach and advocacy with its key stakeholders and society at large.

The analysis of needs and perceptions about the competition policy among the external and internal stakeholders could be a recommended starting point to inform the overall approach and development of tools for AMCU's public outreach and advocacy efforts with regards to main stakeholder groups. Raising qualification of the AMCU staff in the sphere of public outreach, competition advocacy and communication strategy drafting and implementation would also be necessary.

Mandatory result 5 (Component 3): AMCU public outreach and advocacy strategies and action plans are developed and implemented.

Mandatory result 6 (Component 3): AMCU's staff capacity for public outreach and advocacy is increased.

5.2 Institutional framework

The beneficiary of the Twinning project is the Antimonopoly Committee of Ukraine. Established in 1993 after the adoption of the Law "On the Antimonopoly Committee of Ukraine", AMCU is the national competition authority responsible for implementation and enforcement of the competition law. In addition to the head office in Kyiv, AMCU has a network of 24 territorial offices in all regions of Ukraine and employs 333 staff (please refer to the structure of the AMCU central body in an annex). The OECD (2016) and UNCTAD (2013) Peer Reviews of Competition Policy and Law of Ukraine provides, inter alia, a detailed assessment of the institutional structure and capacities of AMCU.

The economic analysis unit was created in May 2006. The main task of Chief economist team is to support the case handling on the investigation stage, committee hearings and in the court, as well as to provide an economic opinion on secondary legislation and methodology development, state aid cases etc. Another function is planning and reporting of the AMCU activities, where the economic-based risk assessment and prioritization of the markets for competition advocacy and enforcement is vital.

There is an advisory Civil Society Council under the AMCU whose purpose is to monitor the implementation of competition policy, to organise effective interaction between the AMCU, the business community and the general public and to receive feedback from economic operators and consumers concerning regulatory initiatives proposed by the AMCU. This body facilitates consultations between the AMCU and civil society on various aspects of competition policy. The AMCU is obliged to take into consideration recommendations made by the Civil Society Council.

 - Percentage of AMCU decisions contested in courts
 - Number and type of public dialogue tools used by AMCU
 - Extent to which AMCU (and other GoU stakeholders) undertake competition advocacy to promote competition among other economic policies.

The RTA and RTA Counterparts will be responsible for regular monitoring of the project progress across the defined indicators and overall performance measurement in line with the logical framework. The Quarterly Project Steering Committee meetings will provide opportunities for performance measurement updates and necessary operational adjustments, if deemed necessary.

12. Facilities available

The RTA and his/her assistants will have the necessary office space, access to meeting rooms, telephones, hardware and software, internet access. Additional facilities will be provided on request for visiting expert missions and undertaking training and conferencing events.
